

Find where all five suspects stood. There is exactly one suspect in each row and in each column, and never more than one suspect in a room. The murder room (shaded, with the body) holds exactly one suspect: the killer. The small letters in each square are the suspects who could still be standing there - cross them out as you rule them out. The number beside the footprint is the fewest steps from that square to the murder room (a step is a move to a neighboring square; walls can only be crossed through doors).
